Follow the examples given today (Monday July 13, 2009) or example in your textbook (Chapter 12), change your home page (index.html you’re your homework 2 and homework5) into a two column page, using an external style sheet: (100 points)

1. Your page will consist a header, a footer and the content part.
2. The content part has a main section and a sidebar section. Your sidebar section is on the right of the page, and holds your hyperlinks to your blog, your resume, and other links.
3. Make sure your main section and sidebar are at the same height from the top, and both underneath the header, and above the footer.
4. Use some background image, and some colors to make your page look nice.

Email me the URL of your homepage (index.html), and show me where your CSS is.
