I am generally not a fan of anonymous feedback, though I respect that many of you are working in groups with close friends and do not want to jeopardize those relationships. Working with friends is difficult. 😊 My hope is that you have given enough constructive feedback throughout the term, and that there have been ample opportunities for improvement based on that feedback, such that there should be few surprises here.

Assign a score on the range [0, 10] (10 being the highest) for each team member (including yourself) quantifying that team member’s overall contribution to the project. These scores will factor into the individual participation scores when calculating the final grades for the course.

Submit your scores to Canvas (see Assignments section for submission link). This is an individual assignment – every student must submit a document for credit.
